

Acres of Blooms on Millions of Trees Expected to Attract Many Motoring Visitors Here Sometime Next Week

POPULARITY OF BLOSSOMS HERE IS INCREASING

Fine Network of Highways Lead Motorists to Heart of Fruit Belt.

MOST BEAUTIFUL SPOT IN LAND

It will soon be apple blossom time in Adams county.

Local fruit growers believe that the hundreds of thousands of apple bearing trees in Adams county will be in full bloom sometime next week.

Acres of blooms, millions of trees, perfumed breezes in one of the most beautiful spots in the United States.

Where once the roar of artillery reverberated through the hills here, today hundreds of peaceful farmhouses stand, where live the apple growers, who are devoting their lives to upholding Pennsylvania's supremacy as an apple-producing state.

Each mile traveled through this picturesque country reveals a new historic treasure-trove and in every May when the apple trees are in bloom, this fruitful region of Adams, Cumberland, Franklin and northern York counties is indeed a veritable paradise.

State Ranks Third

Pennsylvania ranks third in the United States in the value of its apple crop. In 1934, Pennsylvania apple growers received $7,700,000 for the luscious treasure.

Local apples are shipped to every state in the union and to many nations abroad. England and France each year buy a goodly portion of Pennsylvania apples at premium prices.

Adams county is well designated as the heart of the fruit belt in Pennsylvania and in apple blossom time it offers an especially delightful tour. Orchards are located along the foothills of the Appalachian Ridge which form a natural scenic background for the blossoms. Here York Imperials, the principal variety, offer abundant snow-white blossoms to the colorful panorama, with Staymans and other varieties adding a delicate pink to the picture.

In Adams county two and a half million bushels of apples were picked in 1934 with a market value of approximately $2,000,000. Franklin county accounted for 808,000 and Cumberland picked 197,000 bushels. York produced 440,000 bushels of apples.

Apple Blossom Time

One need not make a long and costly journey from any section of Pennsylvania to enjoy apple blossom time in Adams county.

Adams county apple growers have broadcast an invitation to public officials throughout the nation to visit the county during the time the trees are in bloom and in subsequent newspaper articles the exact time of blossoming will be published.

Scores of good roads have been constructed by the state to make this area quickly reached and easily traversed.

A vast network of surfaced highways—more than 1,000 miles—penetrate the valley. Adams county has 354 miles of surfaced roads, Cumberland 361 miles and Franklin 453 miles of fine roads.

The Lincoln highway, U. S. Route No. 30—the Main Street of America—traverses Adams and Franklin counties. U. S. Route 11 from the deep south to the tip of New York passes through Cumberland and Franklin. U. S. Route No. 15 is an important route to Washington and the south, connecting Harrisburg with Gettysburg through Cumberland and Adams counties.

These are merely the main trails tapping this rich and fertile region. Hundreds of miles of feeder and connecting roads reach into the interior of the apple country.

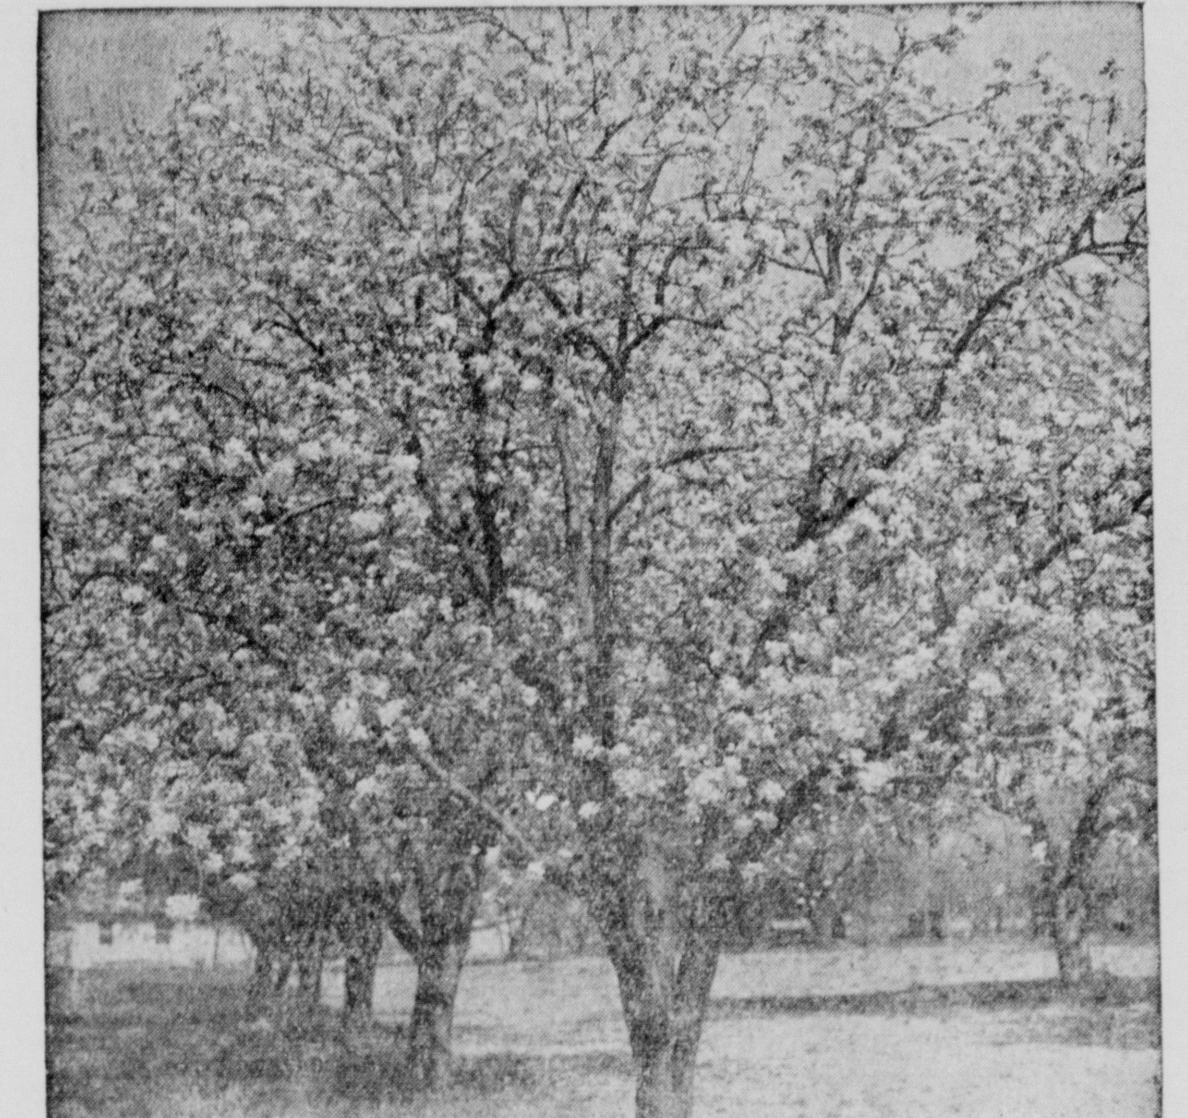

There is beauty, relaxation and diversion to spare in the apple blossom belt of Pennsylvania.

Scenes Like This Await Visitors

GYPSY WOMAN TRIES GAME ON STATE TROOPER

In Default of Bail for Fortune Telling Albina Steve Goes To Jail.

FAILS TO GET MAN'S WALLET

If Albina Steve, 30, could have predicted her own future with any small degree of accuracy, she certainly would not have attempted to tell the fortune of Trooper Joseph P. Bushey.

Instead of offering to tell the fortune of the state trooper, the gypsy woman should have done a little introspective "star-gazing" which might have saved her the embarrassment of going to jail.

Trooper Bushey was patrolling the Harrisburg road, late Wednesday afternoon, having been advised that a band of gypsies had been seen north of here during the day.

Picks On Officer

Near Schriver's crossing, the officer saw a carload of gypsies approaching. The machine stopped and while two of the women in the car got out to make some purchases at D. D. Schriver's road-stand, a third gypsy woman in the machine called Trooper Bushey, who was in plain clothes, to the car and asked to tell his fortune.

The officer readily agreed, and the woman started by asking him for a small coin. Trooper Bushey produced a quarter and gave it to the gypsy, who then began intoning some strange incantations over the piece of money, at the same time telling the officer what a "nice man" he was and how lucky he was going to be on May 16. The date coincides with a payday for the state troopers, so she was not telling Trooper Bushey anything new.

"Feels" For Wallet

She then asked the officer to hold some other change in his hand and to shake it well, after which she asked him to give her the coinage, amounting to 54 cents.

In the meantime, the gypsy was tapping the officer's hip pocket, and felt what she evidently believed was his wallet. She then asked him to let her hold the wallet. The officer said he had no wallet on him, whereupon the woman, with more than ordinary nerve, again tapped the officer's hip pocket. But her hand this time came in contact with Trooper Bushey's pistol holster, and the gypsy let out a scream.

Trooper Bushey then revealed his identity, and proceeded to bring the gypsy before Justice of the Peace John C. Shealer, where a charge of fortune telling was lodged against her. In default of $500 bail, Miss, or Mrs. Steve was committed to the Adams county jail for court.

Within the past week, state police here have received complaints about gypsies' activities in securing sums of money from unsuspecting victims while telling their fortunes.

According to the officers, James Lawrence, Gettysburg R. 1, reported having $90 taken from him by gypsies; Jacob and John Haverstock, of Heidelsburg, reported the loss of $85, and Gideon March, of Gardner's R. 1, reported being swindled out of $4.

Lawrence and the Haverstocks were unable to identify the Steve woman as the gypsy who robbed them.

Youth Confesses After First Blaming Tragedy on Work Of Holdup Men.

Austin, Texas, April 25 (AP).—Howard Pierson, 20, clean-cut and handsome, said today he killed his father and mother, Associate Justice William A. Pierson, of the Texas Supreme court, and Mrs. Pierson, for "a reason."

After Deputy Sheriffs Sam Rogers and Paul Blair announced he had confessed, Pierson told newspaper men he shot his parents late Wednesday on Untry road about 15 miles from Austin where he had lured them on the pretext of viewing a scenic drive.

First he shot his mother, he said, then his father, then he sent a bullet through the head of each "to make sure they were dead."

Next he shot himself in the left arm, concealed his father's watch and purse, his own purse, the 38 calibre pistol and a pasteboard box containing eight discharged cartridges in bushes several miles away and returned to Austin with the story that two robbers had perpetrated the crime. Later he led officers to the place where he had hidden the articles all of which were recovered.

Pierson said he had "a good reason" but officers quoted him as saying he did it for "revenge."

Athens, April 25 (AP).—Two former generals convicted by court martial of participation in the Venzelst revolt were executed by a firing squad at dawn Wednesday.

The pair were General Papoulas, former commander of the Greek forces in Asia Minor who emerged from retirement to engage in the short-lived rebellion, and Belgium-General Kimisis.

The execution took place in a field behind the children's hospital. Shortly before the condemned men were brought forth from Synagros prison to face the firing squad they were visited by a priest. Neither replied when he was asked as his eyes were bandaged whether he had any last wish.

Henry Stewart, who retired in 1922 as commanding officer of the Pennsylvania brigade, will be a guest at the camp. Captain E. F. Strauss, adjutant of the Sixth infantry and Lieutenant Richard S. Rudisill is in command of the local company.

Expect 600 Reserves

Between 500 and 600 reserves are expected to be in attendance at the camp and additional visitors are expected to swell the number of convention guests to more than one thousand, Major MacPherson said today.

The local committee soliciting funds for the reserves' camp has been calling on local business men, lodging house proprietors and others and it was announced today that they have been cordially received and in most instances received contributions to the camp fund.

The adult education class of Mummaburg will present a three-act play, "The Movies Come to Town," at the Mummaburg hall, Friday evening, May 3, at 7:30 o'clock. The play is open to the public.

Four More Perkasio Boys Named in Vandalism Case

Perkasie, April 25.—Four new names were added Wednesday night to the list of students in the Perkasio-Sellersville high school charged with the wrecking of the interior of the sumptuous home of Robert Hendricks, well-to-do Perkasio dairyman.

Thirteen of those rounded up by police and charged with malicious mischief in connection with the affair had a hearing before Justice of the Peace John W. Sprekel. Testimony of several of the boys implicated four others, and police believe that at least 25 boys must have participated in the orgy of destruction.

SILVER SOARS ON MANY MARTS

World Markets See Metal Rise to Highest Point in More Than a Decade.

(By The Associated Press)

Silver prices mounted to the highest point in more than a decade in principal world markets today by the United States treasury's boost in its price to domestic mines.

So rapid was the rise that speculators were led to hope that the treasury would soon have to make another advance in its domestic buying price to keep ahead of world markets.

In London, speculators scrambling for limited supplies sent the price up to the equivalent of 75.97 cents an ounce in New York. That was only 1.60 cents under the new treasury price of 77.57 cents an ounce, as advanced from the level of 71.11 fixed a fortnight ago.

The Montreal silver futures market was swamped with buying. Mining circles in the Rocky mountain states were happy and silverites were gleeful in congress. Senator Wheeler said he would resume his fight for remonetization at 16 to 1.

Banking circles in Mexico, the world's largest silver producers were vexed.

BLOODHOUNDS TRAILING FOUR FLEEING CONVICTS

Sugarland, Texas, April 25 (AP).—Four convicts ran a gauntlet of guards' guns at the Imperial state prison farm near here late Wednesday and escaped in a motor car to a wood near Richmond, where they fled with a pack of bloodhounds on their trail.

The four prisoners, Robert Stewart, 24, Ralph King, 31, and David Capes, 28, all serving terms for robbery with firearms, and Coy Adams, 18, convicted of burglary, broke from the power house of the prison farm.

Guards opened fire when the quartet dashed through the barred door, which had been opened by the turnkey. The four men reached the automobile of E. W. Woods, superintendent of the power house, and roared away. The car later was found abandoned.

LONG SAYS HE IS WORLD'S MOST SUCCESSFUL FARMER

Washington, April 25 (AP).—Senator Long, dressed in a natty white summer suit, told the senate Wednesday he was "the world's most successful farmer."

"I was born on the farm," the Louisianaian explained. "And I left the farm as soon as I could get away."

Later in life, he added, he tried a second venture, sending a man out to his land to install cattle and fencing. But he never saw the man again.

"The best friend I ever had was the man who took my cattle and wire and never came back," he said.

KING BORIS 'SUPREME' IN NEW GOVERNMENT

Sofia, Bulgaria, April 25 (AP).—King Boris will be the "supreme arbiter" of the new Bulgarian government's policies, Premier Andrea Tosheff said Wednesday.

The 70-year-old diplomat, called from retirement to help the king break the army's tight grip on political affairs, stressed the necessity for legality and equity in the social order and complete internal unity behind the monarch.

He told representatives of the foreign press the new government's chief concern would be to raise the standard of living of the poorer classes and revive the nation's economic life. For this, he said, consolidation of internal order is essential.

Mother of 5 Leaves Jail, Her $6 Tax Debt Unpaid

Brookville, Pa., April 25 (AP).—A mother of five children detained for non-payment of $6.44 in taxes was ordered freed Wednesday by Judge William T. Darr.

The woman, Mrs. Alma Snyder, appeared in court carrying her youngest child, six months old, in her arms. She had been held since Saturday at the women's detention department of the county home.

In freeing her, Judge Darr said: "The court cannot condone non-

HOUSE DELAYS LABOR MEASURE

State Chamber of Commerce Representatives Object to Compensation Bill.

Harrisburg, April 25 (AP).—Action on the controversial administration bill to liberalize the workmen's compensation law was delayed today by members of the house, after a fresh assault on the bill by the state Chamber of Commerce.

The measure was listed for advancement to the final passage stage. It was grouped with several other measures which remained unconsidered under an agreement between the republicans and democrats to avoid argumentative subjects.

After advancing a dozen other bills, the house adjourned for the week at 11:26 a. m. to meet again Monday night. The senate adjourned Wednesday.

A statement issued by a conference committee on the state Chamber of Commerce termed the bill "an insult" to employers. Previously, representatives of the chamber asserted the bill, in its present form, would add $50,000,000 per year to labor costs.

Governor Earle said his bill is designed to modernize the 20-year-old compensation system.

Among the non-controversial bills advanced were several administrative measures to provide for the state's cooperation with the federal government in its $4,000,000,000 work relief program. It included a measure to provide county authorities for accepting federal grants for unemployment relief projects.

The house also advanced two administration bills for reorganizing the state police system and to permit use of the state police training school for schooling municipal police officers.

SARAH MAKES A CALL

James' second courtship did not progress by leaps and bounds as Miss Julia and Melissa so confidently expected. He gave the summer to it. Most of the courtship took place on horseback.

James already had a riding horse, a handsome black gelding with one white foot. He bought a beautiful little bay mare, guaranteed to be gentle, and hunted up a saddle. Almost every late afternoon, occasionally in the early mornings, Miss Julia would see him passing her house astride Ted and leading Lady.

Leslie was always ready and waiting for him. James would dismount, lift Leslie into the saddle and off they would go. Leslie clinging timidly to the saddle horn, James assuring her that there was nothing to be afraid of.

Once Miss Julia, frankly cavedropping from her basement window heard Leslie say, "I'm an awful coward. But I'm not really afraid as long as you keep close to me. If you get a foot ahead I'm panicky."

"Don't worry. I'll stick closer than a brother. You'll get over that presently. It's all a matter of keeping at it."

"I don't know. Ted and Lady are so big and powerful. You only laughed yesterday when Ted reared. I would have fallen right off and died. Aren't you ever afraid? I don't believe you are. Your giving me a terrific inferiority complex."

"Afraid? Good God. I've spent most of my life being afraid. You must know, everyone knows, I'm a moral coward."

James' voice was bitter. Leslie stamped her foot and said sharply, "Don't be stupid."

"Stupid?"

"Yes, stupid. You have the gift, the blessed gift of imagination and on top of it an unusual sensitiveness. But it isn't worthy of your intelligence to go on under estimating yourself. I have known you a long time. You call yourself a coward, but I, her voice broke, "I think you are the bravest man I know."

James said thickly, "Bless you." And lifted her into the saddle. They rode off down the street and Miss Julia stood a long time staring out of her cellar window.

Weeks went by. The horseback rides continued. But summer evening after summer evening Leslie sat alone on her father and mother on their side porch. This irritated Miss Julia beyond endurance. One evening as Leslie was watering her flowers Miss Julia went out and joined her. "Where's James tonight?" she asked abruptly.

"Home, I suppose."

"Doing what?"

"Probably reading."

"On a night like this? Why isn't he here? You can tell James for me I think he's a nincompoop."

"Tell him yourself," laughed Leslie. "Or you might," she stooped to water a drooping snapdragon, "you might take it up with Father."

"Your father? What has your father got to do with it?"

"A good deal, I'm afraid. Father is determined that no upstart of the name of Stimson shall patronize a scion of the house of Harris. So when James comes here Father sticks around to see that James doesn't."

"Humph!" said Miss Julia. "Would it make it any easier if Sarah Stimson called on you and your mother?"

"It might, I'm not sure. But don't worry, Miss Julia. I'm not the silly young thing I once was."

"Leslie," said Miss Julia humbly, "I've always wanted to ask your forgiveness for what I did to you and James . . . years ago, going out of my way to interfere in what was none of my business. It was an old fool. Perhaps you didn't know."

"Yes, I knew. It hurt me . . . rather a lot. But do you suppose I would have let you and Mrs. Millard and Miss Sarah and the rest of you take James away from me if I hadn't been willing?"

"Then you didn't honestly care for him?"

"More than my life. That isn't an exaggeration. I sacrificed James to my silly, silly pride. It isn't you I have to forgive but myself. If I could live a thousand years I don't believe I'd ever be able to forgive myself."

"You've already done a lot to make up for it. Why, he's a different man these days. But for my part I won't feel satisfied until I see you two safely married and settled. Don't let him wait too long, Leslie. Time's passing."

A day or two later Miss Julia went to see Miss Sarah and they had a long and not unamorous talk over their iced tea and pound cake. But they kissed at parting and Miss Sarah said quaveringly, "I'll think it over. But I can't help feeling . . ."

"Stop thinking and start doing. It's mighty little I'm asking of you, considering the interfering busy bodies we were once. But go or not, just as you please. It won't make any real difference anyway. Mark my words, James is going to marry Leslie Harris whether you like it or not. The sooner you make friends with her the better."

The next afternoon Miss Sarah in embroidered white linen and white silk gloves and a green sunshade, rang the Harris door bell, card case in hand. She had meant to stay at the most fifteen minutes. She stayed for over an hour. Miss Julia lay down on her porch.

"Well?" asked Miss Julia.

"Well, I actually had a good time," Miss Sarah admitted generously. "Something was said about Father and Leslie began asking me questions. I hadn't had a good talk about Father for years. No one seems interested. He's almost . . . almost forgotten. But Leslie remembers him perfectly."

"So you don't think Leslie's so dreadful?"

"I think she's what Father said—sweet. I asked them all to dinner but only Leslie accepted. When I think, Julia, that it might have been Leslie all these years instead of that had cold-blooded Jane . . ."

Miss Sarah broke down and cried and Miss Julia had to take back all her horrid insinuations of the previous day. And then Melissa brought them tall glasses of iced raspberry shrub and cookies and Miss Sarah said she must take the next car. And didn't.

Warren, Ohio, April 25 (AP).—A machine-gun robber who wore shell-rimmed glasses and two accomplices held up a United States mail truck here Wednesday, forced the driver to proceed to a garage on the outskirts of the city, and then escaped with four pouches of mail, one containing $72,000 in currency.

Although the truck driver, Burl Villers, carried a pistol, not a shot was fired during the hold-up, and he was left by the robbers inside the truck, uninjured, when they fled.

No Trace Is Found

Hours later, although all available Warren police and Sheriff's deputies searched all highways in this vicinity, no trace of the robbers had been found.

Lynn Black, superintendent of the state highway patrol, expressed belief the robbers were the same as those who last night held up a filling station at Columbus, and this morning raided the State Savings Bank at Woodville, near Fremont.

Two men entered the Woodville bank, pointed a sawed-off shotgun and revolver at three employees and two carpenters inside, forced them into a rear room, and then fled in an automobile with $1,000.

Sent by Registered Mail

The money taken in the Warren hold-up had been sent by registered mail by the Federal Reserve Bank in Cleveland to the Second National Bank of Warren to meet a Republic Steel corporation pay roll.

Villers was driving a load of mail from the Erie railroad station here to the postoffice when, he told police, two men boarded his truck, pointed pistols at him and forced him to drive to the edge of the city.

There he was compelled to drive into a garage, where the third robber pointed a machine gun at him and threatened to "give it to him."

Second Bandit Gets Drop

"As the mail truck came to the scene of the hold-up," Villers told police, "I saw a strange sedan stop in front of me. Two men got out. One had an automatic pistol."

"I covered this fellow with my gun but the second got the drop on me from the side. Both got in the truck and ordered me to turn into a nearby street while the robbers' car was driven along in front. Then they told me to pass it."

"Two blocks further on one of the men in the truck got out and entered the sedan. The other stayed in the body of the truck where he couldn't be seen, and kept me covered with his pistol. He made me drive five blocks down the Warren-Niles road to a garage where the doors were open."

"I drove inside and the two men got out of the sedan and came over. 'Don't pull any funny stuff,' the machine gunner said, 'or I'll give it to you and give it to you hard.'

Mail Driver Warned

"They took my keys and unlocked the back of the truck and ordered me to pick up the registered mail pouch. I refused. One of them got in and took all the mail. They then tried to lock me inside the truck but the lock didn't catch and I later escaped and called the police."

Two small girls who witnessed the hold-up meantime had given an alarm, and the police and deputies were searching for the robbers and Villers while he was still captive in the truck.

Read the Bible With Us Daily

But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction.

And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.

And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbers not.

For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment;

And spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly;

And turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes condemned them with an overthrow, making them an ensample unto those that after should live ungodly;

And delivered just Lot, vexed with the filthy conversation of the wicked:

(For that righteous man dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with the unlawful deeds:)

The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished:

But chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government. Presumptuous are they, selfwilled, they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities.

Whereas angels, which are greater in power and might, bring not railing accusation against them before the Lord.

2 Peter 2:1-11.

L. H. Rice, of Arendtsville, were married on Wednesday afternoon at the Lutheran parsonage, Millvale, by Rev. Ira Trostell, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice will spend a short time at the home of Rev. Mr. Trostell, and after a week's trip, they will return to Biglerville, where they will occupy their newly furnished home.

The bride is known as a very accomplished musician. Mr. Rice is a member of the Rice Brothers Produce company, and is one of Biglerville's most active young business men.

At Conference: Among the Gettysburg people who are attending the Adams County Conference of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society at New Oxford on Tuesday are: Mrs. John M. Blocher, Mrs. R. C. Miller, Mrs. H. M. Roth, Mrs. P. W. Stevenson, Mrs. Luther Kuhlman, Mrs. C. B. Stover, Mrs. E. M. Bender, Mrs. Anna Lake, Mrs. Herbert C. Alleman, Mrs. J. I. Burgoon, Miss Mary Kohler, Miss Lillie McClean, Miss Carrie Musselman, Miss Kate Rudisill and Mrs. L. L. Sieber.

SILVER PRICE UPPED TO 77.57

Rapidly Rising World Prices Met by President Adds 6 Cents an Ounce.

Washington, April 25 (AP).—Responding to leaping world silver prices, President Roosevelt Wednesday night boosted the government's offer for newly-mined domestic metal to 77.57 cents an ounce.

His proclamation, effective on all silver produced from United States deposits today and hereafter, added more than six cents an ounce to the domestic miner's income over what the treasury has been paying and world markets bidding.

The announcement, made by Secretary Morgenthau, was received jubilantly by senators from silver states who have forecast that $1 silver soon would be reached and eventually the coinage value of $1.29 cents an ounce.

Last night's increase in the treasury silver price was the second in the coinage plan in December, 1933, two weeks. From the beginning of until April 10, the mint price was 64.5 cents an ounce, which meant that for every ounce turned in the treasury kept half as seigniorage—the government's share—and paid the miner the coinage value of the other half.

World Price Advanced

But during that period world silver prices gradually climbed upward from a 35-cent level to reach the treasury figure. To meet the rising market the treasury on April 10 lifted its standing offer to 71.11 cents an ounce.

Acting apparently as a magnet, this new quotation was followed by new climbs on the world market until yesterday foreign silver in New York hit 71 1/2 cents an ounce and in London went to 71.67 cents. Silver shares in Wall street jumped yesterday in sympathy.

Only 4 Rulers Who Welcomed George V to Throne Remain

London, April 25. — Only four of the full-fledged sovereigns who welcomed George V into the Purple Legion remained to toast his silver jubilee.

Twenty-five years crowded with war, revolution and political upheaval swept away many thrones altogether. Death came to other rulers, and their sons or other heirs succeeded them.

Today there remain only Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, King Gustav V of Sweden, King Haakon VII of Norway and King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy, of all the glittering galaxy who ruled when the present monarch ascended the British throne on the death of his father, King Edward VI.

Even in England, where royalty is perhaps more strongly entrenched than in any other land, rumbles of discontent are voiced from time to time by radicals such as the fiery M. P., Jock MacGovern, who biting refers to "this kingdom business."

Thrones were wobbling even as George V drove from Buckingham palace to Westminster Abbey for his own coronation ceremony nearly 25 years ago.

In July, 1909, the Shah of Persia fled in terror when Nationalists marched on his capital. Five months after King Georges accession another crown tumbled when republicans shelled the Necesidades palace in Lisbon and drove King Manuel II of Portugal into exile. In 1913 King George I of Greece was assassinated after fifty years on the throne.

Then came the war, changing almost the entire map of Europe and wreaking the greatest havoc among crowned heads since the world began.

Its "victims" included:

Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, who abdicated in 1918 and fled into exile at Doorn, Holland.

Czar Nicholas II of Russia, who was overthrown by the Bolsheviks in 1917 and assassinated with other members of the imperial family.

King Constantine of Greece, who was forced to quit his throne by the Allies in 1917. He was succeeded by his second son, Alexander, who died from the bite of his pet monkey in 1920.

Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria, who abdicated after his army's overwhelming defeat in October, 1918; succeeded by his son, Boris II.

King Nicholas of Montenegro, who was deposed in 1918 when the country lost its identity by becoming part of Yugoslavia.

King Otto of Bavaria, who lost his throne when his kingdom, part of the German empire, became a republic on the collapse of the house of Hohenzollern. A similar fate befell King William II of Wurttemberg and King Frederick Augustus of Saxony.

TWO TEXAS JAIL BREAKERS

CAUGHT AFTER GUN FIGHT

Tyler, Texas, April 25 (AP).—Two convicted bank robbers who broke jail at Centerville, Texas, early Wednesday, were captured five miles east of here shortly before noon after a gun fight in which one of the fugitives was wounded.

Mona Bell, who, with Arthur Whitten, tunneled out of the Centerville jail, was shot in the head and shoulder. His condition was not believed to be serious.

Whitten, asleep on the ground when officers arrived at the spot where the fugitives had concealed their stolen automobile, did not resist capture.

SENATOR DAVIS TO LEAVE

SANATORIUM SATURDAY

Battle Creek, Mich., April 25 (AP). Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, recovered from a serious kidney ailment Wednesday said he would leave the Battle Creek sanatorium Saturday and return to Washington.

When the Pennsylvania republic can entered the sanatorium February 28, he said the purpose was a periodic examination. Wednesday, however, he revealed that his condition for a time was so serious that his physician despaired of his recovery.

Senator Davis, his wife and two daughters, Jewell and Joan, will return to Washington by way of Dayton, Ohio.

Nearly 1,000 mules were employed in building an 11-mile stretch of the All-American canal in California.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

SWP HOUSE PAINT

You can tell the difference between SWP and a single pigment and oil job. The SWP job is glossy, fresh and smart looking. The single pigment job appears prematurely dull, dirty and shabby looking—even though protection may still remain in the paint. This is usually true because single pigment and oil paint has less control of "chalking"—weather roughens it, and dirt and soot cling to its roughened surface. Modern SWP with its Multi-Pigment, balanced formula, produces a clean "just painted" kind of job that stays lastingly beautiful. There is one sure way to get a lasting and economical paint job—insist on SWP.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

ALL of us are, more or less, attracted to places. Especially to those places which have enriched us. I like to return to such places again and again. Throughout the year I look forward to returning to my little island home in the forest where I shall again meet my wild little friends of the land and the sky.

I like to return to the familiar scenes of my boyhood, or to spots in various cities which have given to me a peculiar sense of happiness. I have never visited a city, for instance, which didn't leave in my memory some one place that fascinated me, and to which I liked to return.

Recently I visited the building where I first had an office. All those days of struggle and enthusiasm were lived anew.

Many years ago I worked on a Boston newspaper and every opportunity I improved by running into the Old Corner Bookstore there. It thrilled me to think of the noted men and women who had gained the same pleasure that I had—Emerson, Thoreau, Phillips, Hale, Whittier, and scores of others of their time, and more recently Christopher Morley and his book pals. At that time this shop was located near a little street that touched Tremont, which Bill Nye called a "short, thick-set street." I always like to walk through that street when in Boston.

When in New Orleans I like to walk into the old French quarter and view the places where they tell me that Lafcadio Hearn worked and lived. How I would like to visit the old place where Montaigne retired from the great part of the world and worked. How I would like to look at that beam above his writing desk where he had carved: "I do not understand; I pause; I examine." And some day I hope to visit the Roadmender Country in England and see the lovely places which inspired Michael Fairless to write her immortal little "Roadmender."

In my reading today I came across an essay in which the writer told of the joy of anniversaries. "The spot of ground on which a man has stood," he wrote, "is forever interesting to him. Every experience is an anchor holding him the more firmly to existence."

There is something forever warming to our hearts about the places which have known us in joy, sorrow, or struggle. Places fill the walls of our memory. Blessed be God who gave to us Memory!

FINDS OLD LAW GIVING HORSE HIGHWAY RIGHTS

Minneapolis, Minn., April 25 (AP).—The Minnesota Mascot, weekly newspaper here, scrapes the dust off an old Minnesota law, still on the statute books, which gives horse and driver an imperious highway right.

The law, passed in 1910, requires the driver of an automobile to stop his car if a person driving or leading a horse on the highway raises his hand in such signal.

The Mascot points out, however, that it might be difficult for the horse driver to flag an automobile traveling 70 miles an hour.

TEXAS JURIST, WIFE ARE SHOT

Pair Fatally Wounded and Son Injured by Hold-up Men, Youth Reports.

Austin, Texas, April 25.—Associate Justice William Pierson, of the Texas supreme court, and Mrs. Pierson were fatally shot in a hold-up on a country road 20 miles west of here Wednesday night. Howard Pierson, 21, their son, who was driving with them, was shot in the left arm.

Both the judge and his wife bore head and body wounds. They were found lying near together on the road.

The boy said they were shot when two men, brandishing revolvers, ordered them from the automobile, and they resisted.

Unable to get his parents back in the car in his wounded condition, he drove back to Austin. Young Pierson was treated at Seton infirmary here and is said to be not seriously hurt.

He said that before ordering them to leave the car, the men directed them to drive up a side road. The bodies were found about 100 yards from the main Bull Creek road near the county's pecan experiment orchard.

Willie Phillips, who was at a filling station some distance away, said he heard seven shots. First there were three shots, a woman's scream, then two shots followed almost immediately by two more shots.

Heard Seven Shots

Mrs. Pierson's body was in the road and Judge Pierson's a little off the road.

The aged judge had been on the supreme court bench hearing arguments until late in the day, and had gone with his wife and son on an evening drive.

The bodies were found after dark, about the time the youth reached Austin.

State rangers, deputy sheriffs and Austin police were scouring the hill country west of Austin late Wednesday night for a trace of the two men.

ZION CITY BANKRUPTCY

APPROVED BY U. S. COURT

Chicago, April 25 (AP).—United States District Judge James H. Wilkerson Wednesday authorized Attorney Julius Moses, counsel of the Zion Institutions and Industries, Inc., of Zion City, Illinois, to file an amended plan of reorganization under section 77b of the amended bankruptcy law.

The principal difference between the amended plan and the original plan, which the court rejected, was the elimination of control by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, recently deposed dictator of Zion and "flat world" exponent, over the devised corporation.

Under the new plan Voliva will be president and general manager but there also will be an assistant general manager, directly in control of the new company, to be appointed by three trustees.

SENATE WANTS HOUSE TO HELP

State G. O. P. Solons Adjourn After H Sends Appeal to Governor Earle.

Harrisburg, April 25.—Prospects of immediate agreement between the Earle administration and the republican majority in the senate on state finances, including funds for unemployment relief, were wiped away Wednesday when the republicans refused to make any concession to the governor, announced their intention to insist on their own program and quit for the week.

Following a short routine session at which final action on two minor bills was delayed until Monday night, the senate majority issued through President Pro-Tem Homsher a statement calling the governor's $203,000,000 tax program "wildly extravagant" and describing its own proposals, totaling little more than half the amount asked by the governor, as "the sound, logical and safe way to care for Pennsylvania's financial and unemployment problems for the next two years."

Senator Clarence J. Buckman, republican floor leader, carried a copy of the statement to Governor Earle who had no immediate comment to make on the renewed refusal of the republicans to yield in the compromise negotiations which were started last week after the republican program was finally prepared.

The statement, after detailing financial statistics, concluded with this request to the governor who has already accepted the republican demand for a one-year relief appropriation and agreed to four of the senate's proposed taxes:

"The republican majority in the senate asks that Governor Earle and his democratic majority in the house cooperate with it in working out in a businesslike manner a sane, sound and sensible tax program, and this without further delay."

Only one change was made in the republican program as announced last week. The senate majority held fast to its estimate that $57,000,000 is ample for unemployment relief in the next two years but rearranged its proposed financial setup for the biennium so that $38,000,000 would be available for relief between June 1, 1935, and May 31, 1936. The remaining $18,000,000 would be for the second years of the biennium.

Uncle Sam says, "You're wrong... if you think all Gasolines are alike!"

Uncle Sam makes a lot of jack by taxing gasolines. So he has to know exactly what goes into each brand. When he says, "Tydol Gasoline is different from the others!"... you can bet your boots it is different. So different in fact, that Uncle Sam taxes it twice... once as a gasoline, and once for the lubricant it contains. "But," you ask, "why under the sun should a gasoline lubricate? Here's why: There is only one way to give the upper cylinders and valves of your motor the lubrication they need... and that is to mix a fine lubricant with your gasoline. (Remember how the instruction book, with your new car, advised just that?) But adding a top-cylinder lubricant to your gas is both a nuisance and an expense. So Tydol does it for you. Into every gallon of Tydol is blended a super-lubricant (which is also a carbon-solvent). And, although Tydol gives you this extra lubrication service and pays the government an extra tax, lubricated Tydol Gasoline doesn't cost you an extra penny; in fact, it goes into your tank at the same price as ordinary motor fuels.

NOTE: TYDOL pays Uncle Sam an extra tax because it contains a special top-cylinder lubricant... yet Tydol, the gasoline that actually lubricates as it drives, does not cost you a penny extra.
